PROGRAMS

These programs and courses are open to all students, regardless of identity affiliation.

Lead Out Loud

The Lead Out Loud Program focuses on multicultural leadership topics and research. Students will be able to discuss and research leadership topics within a multicultural lens (i.e., race, gender, religious affiliation, Socio-economic status, etc.). The program helps students:

- Create a legacy that will empower students to become social change agents.
- Reach full leadership potential and continue the learning cycle by training peers about leadership.

Inspire

The Inspire Women's Leadership Program focuses on leadership topics pertaining to the enhancement and empowerment of women in leadership. Through networking, mentoring, personal development, experiential training, and research. The program helps students:

- Develop an understanding of leadership while also learning about women and gender issues.
- Engage in community service and organizations that will empower students to analyze issues related to women and gender.

Civic Engagement

The Civic Engagement Scholars Program is for any student who is looking to get more engaged and become more active citizens in their community. The program helps students:

- Demonstrate awareness of social issues and explore the connections among leadership, service, volunteering, and active citizenship.
- Motivate and empower students to become leaders on campus and in their communities.

UPCOMING NEW PROGRAM:

The Leadership Laboratory Program is intended for students who have a strong interest in developing their leadership style on a more advanced level as they participate in student or professional organizations. Participants will learn what it means to be an effective leader who can make a difference with other leaders and followers in their communities through social change and community engagement. This program will encourage students to think about their understanding of leadership and will challenge students to become more servant leaders by volunteering with non-profit agencies in the Central Florida region.

PROGRAMS

Global Leadership

The Global Leadership Program is intended for students who have a strong interest in international and global issues with a desire to learn what it means to be a global citizen and how they can get engaged no matter where they are. The program helps students:

- Think about their understanding of leadership and challenges them to become more globally-minded citizens.
- Understand the components of culture and its effects on individuals.

LEAD with Pride

The LEAD with Pride Program focuses on leadership topics relevant to the LGBTQ+ community so students can learn more about how to be a more inclusive, compassionate, and empathetic leader or ally. The program helps students:

- Demonstrate awareness of social and political issues that affect the LGBTQ+ community.
- Demonstrate an understanding of personal identity using an intersectional approach.

Latinx Leadership

The Latinx Leadership Program explores the notion of social change and challenges students to see themselves as agents of that change by developing their understanding of Latinx leadership through Juana Bordas' book "The Power of Latino Leadership." They will also learn more about identity, history, and current issues within the Latinx community. The program helps students:

- Explore current topics and trends in Latinx culture, history, and news.
- Discuss Latinx leadership theories and research.
