Transfer Advisory Council: How to Amplify Your Voice
Matriculation Trends and Issues, Partnerships and Collaboration

In an environment where it can be easy to feel overworked and understaffed, learning how to build a team to amplify transfer student voices is vital. Participants will hear how a department of one enlisted a team of colleagues dedicated to consistently advocating and facilitating transfer student integration. This session will cover the council's development, member selection, completed projects, and future directions. This session is applicable for institutions of all sizes.

REPORTING & EXPECTATIONS

Members will serve a one-year, renewable term on the Transfer Advisory Council, chaired by Erin Bird, Transfer Transitions Coordinator within the Office of Undergraduate Education.

The Transfer Advisory Council will initiate and contribute to ongoing efforts in support of transfer students at OSU, aligned with university priorities outlined in the Strategic Plan 4.0 and the Provost’s Undergraduate Student Success Initiative. Additionally, this council may work in conjunction with committees and task forces to provide a comprehensive university-wide plan to improve the transition experience for students.

Specifically, the Transfer Advisory Council will:

- Recommend best practices. Identify and recommend best practices that enrich a smooth transition for students into OSU through work with students, staff, and faculty.
- Enhance Communication. Evaluate and develop proper communication channels that streamline outreach to students, as well as delivering timely information to transfer student professionals.
- Improve Credit Articulation Processes. Determine strategies for improving credit articulation processes, and work to provide information that is readily accessible, easy to understand, and transparent.
- Identify Relevant Data. Develop metrics to track transfer student progress and success from pre-arrival through graduation. Supplementary metrics will be evaluated as needs arise.
- Funding Opportunities. Collaborate with university-wide units to consider policies and processes for fund distribution.

Participant Benefits:
- Interact and network with a community of Transfer student professionals
- Receive timely updates on university-wide policies, programs and initiatives related to transfer students
- Broaden understanding of transfer student challenges and barriers
- Identify and develop best practices to support transfer students

Participant Expectations:
- Agree to 1-year participation (renewable)
- Attend and participate in quarterly meetings
- Engage in planning and implementation of strategic visioning
- Work collaboratively and distribute the work fairly
- Maintain strong communication with committee members and university partners

Projects
Transfer Student Events

Hosted 4 events per quarter. Each quarter included a Welcome event for new students and a collaboration with OSU Athletics for transfer student night. Remaining events ranged from physical activity, crafts, and service projects.

Transfer Guides

Developed universal template for document. Transfer Guides are created for each major at OSU and articulates courses that will fulfill major requirements for each community college in Oregon.
OSU Transfer Professional Directory

Collected contact information for colleagues that support transfer students within units across OSU. Directory is hosted within “Canvas for Advisors” and updated annually.

Transfer student scholarship document

Developed handout for prospective students to support understanding of application, deadlines, and requirements for central and departmental scholarships.

Prospective student degree audit

Investigated whether DegreeWorks Transfer Equivalency Self-Service tool could support OSU’s needs for working with prospective students.
National Transfer Student Week

Hosted first ever OSU National Transfer Student Week. Daily events boasted collaborations with Academic Success Center, Counseling and Psychological Services, and general social connections.

No other sponsored projects

Given the nature of the pandemic and OSU’s decision to provide remote and online learning for Fall, Winter, and Spring terms, TrAC opted to not engage in sponsored projects. Quarterly meetings will occur to allow for conversations and connections.
4 Future Directions
